

▼ TOP STORIES

- Artist sells fake Cayman company certificates
- Man attacked overnight
- Mervin Smith declares for West Bay
- Time to apply for postal ballots
- Judge stays release of Op Tempura records
- Seven arrested following immigration raid

Canada to Grand Cayman

Get Canada's Top Discounts on Flights & Packages to the Caribbean
www.RedTag.ca

Camping kit to be won

By: Natasha Were | natasha.were@cfp.ky
 20 February, 2013

> Be the first person to share your comment

Camping kit from Cost-U-Less

Chris Court

One lucky family will be enjoying an Easter Camping trip of a lifetime.

The Caymanian Compass, in partnership with Cost-U-Less, launched a new Easter camping competition on Friday, 15 February. The winner of the competition will be taking home a four-man tent, two sleeping bags, a cooler, a lantern, a table top barbecue, charcoal, two camping chairs, two beach umbrellas and a fishing rod.

Last autumn, Cost-U-Less teamed up with Inside Out, another Cayman Free Press publication, giving readers the chance to win a $1,500 gift certificate for the warehouse store. The competition was such a success, and so popular with customers, that manager Guy Strickland, was all too happy to run another competition.

"It's great to partner with Cost-U-Less again for another online and in-store promotion," said Anne Guerrero, Cayman Free Press marketing supervisor. "Our competitions always attract a lot of people, and when it is a great family prize like camping equipment I expect many local residents to enter. So get down to Cost-U-Less or visit caycompass.com/competitions to enter today!"

There are two simple ways to enter. Either enter online at www.caycompass.com/competitions with your name and contact details or purchase any item from the store, write your name, e-mail and phone number on the back of the receipt and place it in a drop box at the store's exit.

The winner will be drawn on Wednesday, 20 March.

Participants must be over 18 years of age to enter and may not be employees of either Cayman Free Press or Cost-U-Less.

The Caymanian Compass, in partnership with Cost-U-Less, launched a new Easter camping competition on Friday, 15 February.